Plumbing

Outlasts the Building!

Most Plumbing, of course, is hidden from view and this affords an opportunity to install inferior materials. We, however, have a reputation to maintain and have never deviated from the original specifications submitted by architects. With excellent work assured, you will be exceedingly pleased with our prices.

We shall be glad to submit bids on any new work you may require.

Tyler Home on Cravens Avenue Attractive

B. C. Buxton, Contractor Photo by Keller Studio

This attractive home at 1103 Cravens Avenue, was recently built for Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Tyler by B. C. Buxton, and serves as both an ideal small home and income property.

The house, which appears to be oblong in shape, is modeled after the old adobe dwellings. It is white stucco, with green outlining the windows and a red tile roof.

Two garages are built into the house on one side, one of which has an entrance from the front of the house, and the other opens from the rear. The roof of the small entrance porch extends over the front garage, giving the front of the dwelling added attractiveness and balance.

On the rear of the lot is a unit of eight garages, four facing the back yard and four facing the alley.

In the house is a long living room, the walls of which are in a modified jazz finish. In the ceiling is the popular offset panel, and rounded corners. Windows in the room have an interesting treatment. There are three windows set together, so as to form one large window. The center window is stationary and plain glass, while those on each side are casement windows with oblong glasses.

The door by which one enters the house is a glass door with oblong glasses set in.

There is an archway between the living room and the dining alcove, which is a room about 9x9. On two sides of the dining alcove are large, casement windows, and in the corner between the windows is an unusually attractive corner cupboard built in.

The kitchen is finished in two shades of pale blue, with a deeper blue tile outlining the drainboard and sink. There is every convenience in the small kitchen. Cupboards, drawers, doors, spice cupboard, built-in ironing board, large cooler, broom closet, etc., are all compactly arranged.

Just off the kitchen is the enclosed back porch, which is finished in blue also. A door opening off this discloses the bathroom cheery and bright with two shades of pink as colors.

Another entrance to the bath is through the bedroom, which is just off the living room. The bedroom is finished in green with papered walls.

It has two large closets which is very rare in a small house of only one bedroom.
